

Union Pacific Rail Road Video Teleconference Sites

On the following pages UPRR video teleconference sites are listed by location, with a name and telephone number for the contact person at each site.

In order to schedule and use the UPRR sites, the arbitrator and the parties must first agree that a teleconference is acceptable. If so, the teleconference will be coordinated by the carrier representative: he or she will contact the UP representative listed for the desired site, clear the availability of the site, and schedule with the local contact, the union, and the arbitrator.

The UPRR sites are capable of being joined by a bridge so that the arbitrator, the union representative, and the company representative may be in three different locations. All calls into UP's bridge from outside must use an ISDN line.

NOTE: In cases where contact names or number are missing, corrections will be made on the NMB web site (www.nmb.gov).
